Work-at-Home: Share Your Craftiness with the World!

If you're the creative type, one of the best ways to make money from home is by starting your own home crafts business! With ever expanding opportunities to share your crafts on the Web (Pinterest, Etsy, Twitter, Facebook), you can now make an excellent income selling your homemade crafts online!

Before the Web, you'd have to rent space at a crafts fair, flea market, or crafts mall to get exposure for your creations. Now millions of eager buyers are just a mouse click away!

If you haven't seen Amazon Handmade, you need to check it out! With Amazon's customer base, it's sure to be an excellent new venue for selling your handmade crafts online!

For those of you who enjoy crafting as a hobby or business, I found a great site with lots of how-to's and a forum where people share information and pictures of their latest creations. It's Craftster.

Craftster also has an "Opportunities for Crafters" Board, where stores seeking to purchase handmade goods, and magazines looking for craft projects can advertise. Perusing this board can give you an idea of what's in demand!

A few more great websites where you can sell your crafts:

Pocketbarn

Bonanza

Zibbett

Aftcra

My all-time favorite crafting site is Craftsy! You'll find a community of crafters there who share your passion, and online classes in quilting, sewing, cake decorating, knitting, crochet, and more!

Also, Craftsy has an excellent affiliate program. Program Highlights:

- 30% commission on all course sales
- $1 for every new registered Craftsy account
- 30 day cookie
- $10 affiliate referrals: Invite your website-owning and blogging friends to join the Craftsy affiliate program and earn $10 for each friend who's approved.

Join Craftsy's Affiliate Program today!

If you'd like to learn more about starting your own home crafts business shop on Etsy, I highly recommend The Complete Etsy Kit.

If you'd like to learn more about starting a successful online home crafts business, I highly recommend Craft Business Power: 15 Days to a Profitable Online Craft Business by Cinnamon and Jason G. Miles, which is available on Amazon.

Learn How to Earn a Full-Time Income from Your Blog!

Do you want to learn how to earn a full-time income from your blog - the kind of money that is life changing, the kind of income that will allow you to travel, spend more time with your family, and secure your future?

I've been a blogger for ten years now. I started this site in 2007, and it wasn't until recently that I began to treat my blog like a business. And that's when everything changed. That's when I began bringing in a full-time income from my site.

Three things happened to bring this about:

1. I began to view my blog as a business and not a hobby; I began to invest both time and money into my blog.
2. I began to study those who were already making a living from their websites.
3. I enrolled in Michelle Schroeder-Gardner's Making Sense of Affiliate Marketing.

Michelle makes over $50,000+ a month from her blog and is currently on track to bring in $100,000 a month by the end of 2017. That's right! I said $100,000 a month! And she'll teach you exactly how she's doing it.

I highly recommend Michelle's course. Whether you're a beginning blogger or someone who's been blogging a while, but isn't bringing in the income you desire, Making Sense of Affiliate Marketing will open your eyes and walk you step-by-step through the secrets of successful affiliate marketing. You can learn how to earn a full-time income from your blog!

From Michelle:

"Making Sense of Affiliate Marketing is a step-by-step guide to creating and making money from your own successful affiliate marketing strategy...This course makes affiliate marketing achievable. You can see your blogging income grow from the beginning, and the information in this course will help you well into the future."

If you've tried affiliate marketing, you know there's a definite learning curve. In fact, I had nearly given up on earning affiliate income before taking Michelle's course. I can truly say that the things I learned in Making Sense of Affiliate Marketing have skyrocketed my income!

I can now rely solely on my blog for income, if I choose. You can't imagine the security and peace that brings. Best of all, I get to do something I love and help others do the same.

Whether you're a beginning blogger or someone who's been blogging for a while and wants to learn how to earn a full-time income from your blog through affiliate marketing, I highly recommend this course.

Michelle loves what she does, and it shows. She wants you to succeed!

The cost for the course is just $199.00, and at that price, it's a bargain! Comparable courses frequently cost $500+.

Don't Miss This Opportunity!

Work at Home: How to Start Your Own Pet Sitting Business

Do you love animals? Do you want to work from a home office? And are you looking for a job with very little overhead? If you answered yes to all these questions, then a pet sitting business might be the perfect business for you.

- The first step, as with any business, is to make a plan. Pet sitters most often target dog and cat owners as potential clients. But you may want to consider more exotic pets (birds, rabbits, etc.) It's best to limit your service area to within 10 miles of your home, as this will make mapping your work easier and keep gas costs to a minimum.
- Decide what your per-visit rate is going to be. Most pet sitters charge
- between $15 and $20. But more affluent areas may be willing to pay more
- for your service. Also take into consideration how much you will be doing on each visit. Some visits may be as simple as a feeding. Some may require that you walk and play with the pet or administer medicine. Adjust accordingly.
- Advertise your pet sitting business by having cards printed. Hand them out to everyone you meet. Also, have flyers printed and post them on public bulletin boards. It helps to make sure the flyers have pictures of cats and dogs, as this will attract the attention of pet owners to your ad. Make sure all your contact information is on them - name, phone numbers, email address.
- Don't forget to post your flyer at pet stores and veterinary offices - with permission, of course. Ask yourself where pet owners congregate. Dog parks on a Saturday morning are a great place to hand out your business card. Many pet businesses also create a website and list it in local directories. Do whatever you can to get your business in front of the public.
- Finally, get bonded and insured. This is important for your protection,
- and is a must-have if you hire any employees. You can get this type of
- insurance through the National Association of Professional Pet Sitters and Pet Sitters International.

Pet sitting is not only a profitable home business; it's a rewarding one! If you'd like to work from home and want to learn more about starting your own pet sitting home business, I recommend Six-Figure Pet Sitting Academy! Click here to visit Six-Figure Pet Sitting Academy.com.

Chloe + Isabel: A Fun and Flexible Home Business!

If you've been looking for a home business that's fun and flexible, and allows you to set your own schedule, then a Chloe

+ Isabel home jewelry business might be the perfect fit for you! Christmas is just around the corner. Now is the time to start making some extra money for the holidays!

It's hard to find a home business that will work around you and your children's schedule, that provides the needed support and training (so you don't feel all alone), gives you the tools to succeed, and offers a return that makes it worth your time and effort.

But I believe Chloe + Isabel fits the bill.

The company provides its merchandisers full training, a generous commission structure, and a 30 to 50% discount on all personal jewelry purchases.

From the company:

"Chloe + Isabel is a fashion jewelry brand devoted to empowering the next generation of entrepreneurs through social retail. Our handcrafted jewelry is sold exclusively through our Merchandisers, a diverse community of c+i business owners...Our mission is to provide each and every one of these Merchandisers with the training, resources and mentorship they need to achieve their personal and financial goals."

C + I is truly invested in your success! For only $175.00, you'll receive a Starter Kit of jewelry and promotional materials worth $700.00.

You'll also receive your own fully customizable online boutique and online back office (where you'll be able to track your sales and see your success).

Anyone experienced in this type of business will tell you that an online presence is key to success. The audience for your product is immediately expanded. You're no longer selling to your friends and family. You're selling to the world!

Earn Up to $100/Hour as a Chloe + Isabel Merchandiser!

Additionally, Chloe + Isabel provides you full support and training, as well as a personal mentor to answer questions, provide encouragement, and guide you as you start your new home business!

You're not alone. Someone is available to answer your questions, mentor you, and cheer you on!

Best of all, you don't have to store or ship merchandise! The company maintains all inventory. When your customer places an order, merchandise is shipped directly from the company to her door, freeing you to concentrate on marketing the business.

This is important. As someone who has run an inventory-based business, having to deal with storing product and shipping is a huge hassle. When that worry is taken off your shoulders, you can concentrate on sharing your business, spreading the word, and bringing people to your website.

Chloe + Isabel is fully invested in your success! They want you to succeed!

If you've been looking for a fun business that costs little to start, one that gives you financial independence while also providing training and support, then a Chloe + Isabel home business might be just the ticket!

Work-at-Home: Start a Resume Writing Home Business

One of the simplest, lowest-cost home businesses is a resume writing service. Most people already have the equipment necessary to run this business. So if you're a quick typist with a strong grasp of grammar, this might be the perfect home business for you!

What You'll Need:

- Computer

- Internet access
- Printer
- Phone
- Dictionary (Online will do)
- Business cards
- File cabinet (Business papers can be stored on your computer, but make sure you have backup.)
- A copy of Microsoft Word is invaluable (But other word processing software will do.)

Getting Started:

- Register your home business with federal, state, and city offices (Check the requirements in your state.)
- Create a client questionnaire with all the pertinent inquiries to help you generate a resume.
- Set up a website for your home business with the ability to upload and download files. (Important!)
- Advertise in local newspapers, craigslist, message boards (in signature), etc.
- After each client fills out your questionnaire, interview the person through email, phone, or in person to make sure you have all relevant information.
- Using information obtained, write the resume and cover letter. There are templates available online for resumes. Just Google "resume template," and you will get plenty of results.
- Have the client approve the resume and cover letter. Then either print it and deliver it, or upload it through an ftp server to your
- client. Alternately, with the client's approval, you can email it as an attachment.
- Bill your client. PayPal has a very handy billing tool that's perfect for this. However, your client will have to sign up on PayPal to pay you
- this way.

If you just need inspiration and ideas to help you jump start your home-based career, I highly recommend Timothy Ferriss's The 4-Hour Workweek: Escape 9-5, Live Anywhere, and Join the New Rich! It will give you the push you need to get started and help you think outside the box!

Work-at-Home: Start Your Own Home-Based Herb Business

Having a herb garden and perhaps a home-based herb business (cultivating herbs for sale) has always been a fantasy of mine. I've checked books out at my local library on the subject and perused gourmet store shelves, daydreaming about how much fun it would be to grow my own herbs from home and sell them to restaurants and stores to bring in some extra money.

Check Out My Update Below!

There are only a couple of things stopping me from starting my own home-based herb business:

- Number one: I don't have any sun in my yard. I live in the midst of a tall stand of pines.
- Number two: I can't keep a plant alive to save myself. I am the original brown thumb.

But I cling to the fantasy. Who knows? Maybe one day I'll have a patch of sunny land, and I can give it a try. In the meantime, if you're good in the garden and have a sunny spot, this is a home business you may want to consider.

*"How could such sweet and wholesome hours
Be reckoned but with herbs and flowers?" – Andrew Marvel*

I found this great article in Mother Earth News that not only details how one woman started a home-based herb business, but also how much money she brings in with it and how she does it. It's Start a Home Business with Herbs! I am salivating just reading it.

If you're interested in starting a home-based herb business or learning to grow herbs for your own enjoyment, I recommend Homegrown Herbs: A Complete Guide to Growing, Using, and Enjoying More than 100 Herbs by Tammi Hartung, which is available on Amazon.

Ultimate Bundles offers an evergreen bundle - the Herbs and Essential Oils Super Bundle - which can't be beat for value. For only $47, you get access to a huge library of resources ($800+ of handpicked resources: 16 eBooks and printables, 10 eCourses). I got my bundle, and it's awesome!

UPDATE: Since I posted this, I have started herb gardening in pots! It's not an herb farm, but it's a start! And I've enjoyed watching these grow so much!

Below are images of some of my herbs (basil, thyme, and sage) and another image with the wooden spoons I use as markers. I write the herb name on the wooden spoon and stick it in the pot beside the plant, so I don't get them confused.

I also planted some rosemary and spearmint, but they're not as impressive, so I'll post a pic of them after they've grown some more.

I have had great success in the short month I've been growing these, thanks to the book I mentioned above - Homegrown Herbs: A Complete Guide to Growing,

Using, and Enjoying More than 100 Herbs by Tammi Hartung, which is available on Amazon. I can't recommend it enough! It has step-by-step instructions, tips, and the most wonderful color pictures of everything!

About WordPress

WordPress is a state-of-the-art semantic personal publishing platform with a focus on aesthetics, web standards, and usability. What a mouthful. WordPress is both free and priceless at the same time.

More simply, WordPress is what you use when you want to work with your blogging software, not fight it.

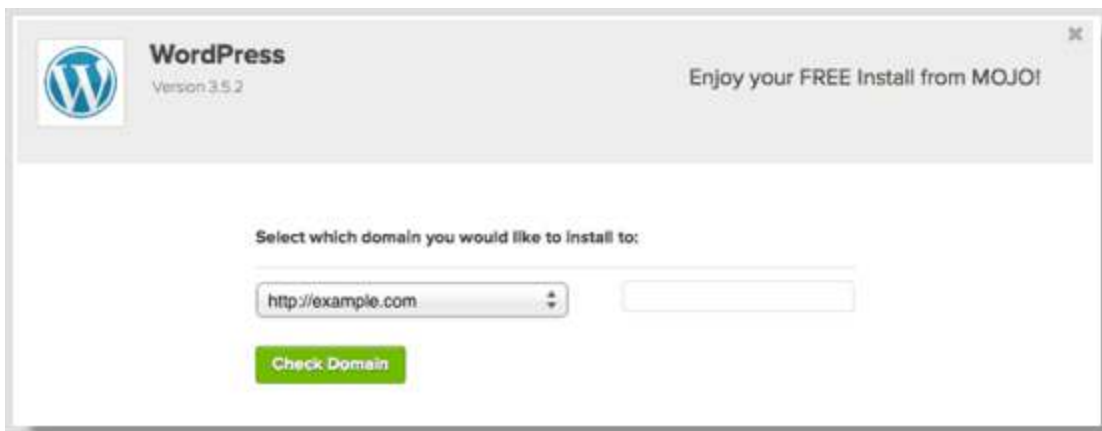

WordPress started as just a blogging system, but has evolved to be used as full content management system and so much more through the thousands of plugins, widgets, and themes now available. WordPress is limited only by your imagination. (And tech chops.)

Below is a pic of your Wordpress sign-on page. You should receive an email from Bluehost with the URL of your admin page and directions for logging onto your dashboard. If, for some reason, you do not, follow these directions from Bluehost:

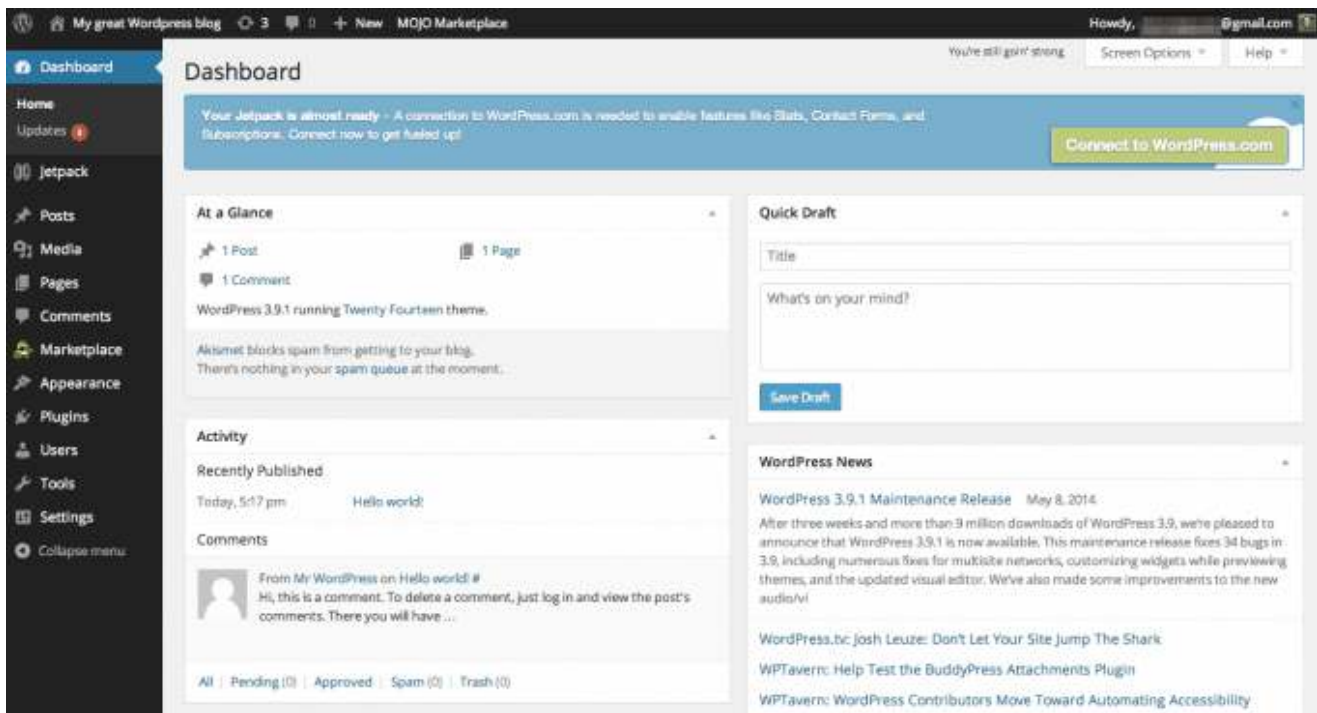

The default URL to login to WordPress is the same URL you would use to visit your site but with "/wp-admin" added to the end of it.

For example if I visit my WordPress website at www.example.com. I would go to www.example.com/wp-admin to access the login screen.

Your login screen should look like this. Enter your username and password.

This is your dashboard! From here, you will run your entire site - upload themes, add plugins, write posts, and more!

It's time for the FOURTH step: choosing a theme and framework for your site and making it unbelievable!

I use a Genesis framework child theme by Studiopress. I highly recommend going this route. Genesis is a paid framework and theme package, but well worth the investment.

There are also many free themes available across the Internet and right within your Wordpress installation, if you prefer to start out with a free theme.

The reason I recommend Genesis so highly is it will make your site look professional from the start. Also, Genesis is famous for being SEO friendly, meaning Google likes it. That means your audience will have an easier time finding you! It's also more secure.

Best of all, Studiopress/Genesis is mobile-ready, meaning you won't have to pay someone to set up a mobile site for you! This is really important as more and more people access the Internet from their smart phones.

You can check out Studiopress and the full selection of Genesis themes here.

Once you've installed your theme, you're officially the publisher of a money-making blog!

IMPORTANT: Don't get overwhelmed. Take it step-by-step. Bluehost has people available to help you if you have any questions.

Finally, the FIFTH and FINAL step - Monetize:

Once you've published some content and given it time to show up in Google search, it's time to sign up with some ad networks and throw a few well-placed ads on your site.

For those just starting out, I recommend AdSense and Media.net. They're easy to sign up with, and their ads are simple to implement.

Bluehost is currently running a special on hosting - only $3.95 a month for reliable hosting with awesome support for your website! I highly recommend Bluehost to those starting out with a new blog. The price/quality can't be beat!

If you want to learn from an expert how to create an extremely profitable blog, then I highly recommend your taking the very affordable Making Sense of Affiliate Marketing by Michelle Schroeder-Gardner. She has affiliate marketing (the best source of income for bloggers) down to a science. She's making $50,000+ a month from her site, and is currently on track to bring in $100,000 a month by the end of 2017! That's right! I said $100,000 a month! And she'll show you how to do it too. Her course is extremely affordable and an excellent value. I've personally taken her course, and I can tell you I've learned so much and greatly increased my income! Learn more about Making Sense of Affiliate Marketing.

Finally, if you're interested in starting a food blog, you should definitely check out Food Blogger Pro. This course walks you step-by-step through creating a profitable food blog. It was created by the publishers of popular food blog Pinch of Yum, and it's well worth the cost if you're serious about getting started quickly and blogging for income.

You're done! Now keep creating great content and sharing it on social media! Who knows? You could be the next six-figure blogger!
